The Newsletter of Wellspring House, Inc., Gloucester, Massachusetts
VOL. 34, NO. 2 FALL 2015

Enduring Truths

Wellspring House was founded in 1981 by seven dear friends who were willing to take the risk to do something radical: create a home where they themselves would live and provide temporary shelter to families, living side-by-side as a community. Thirty-four years later Wellspring House retains this strong sensibility. We know that money runs out, marriages fall apart, illness devastates a home. Yet, we have also proven that care and support provided in the context of a welcoming community can change lives.

Last week I had the privilege to sit with a passionate 27-year old woman who in her own words said "I was ready to give-up before Wellspring's MediClerk Program. I figured my parents didn't really go too far, and kids usually are like their parents." Prior to spending time with Wellspring, she had been working in the same receptionist position at a local gym for years, without any ability to advance. At Wellspring House she learned about other opportunities, and gained the skills to get there.

"In a very short amount of time, just 15 weeks, Wellspring taught me that I CAN move forward. Now I believe I can do it! It's not just the academics. I learned about myself. The other people in the class, now they are a part of my life." In less than two months after graduation from MediClerk, she has secured full-time work at Lahey Health, and is pursuing further education at North Shore Community College. I feel lucky to know her, and can't wait to see what comes next in her journey.

The world around Wellspring House has shifted a great deal over the years. Life is speeding along at a faster pace. Parents need more education and higher wages to support their families. Yet, some enduring truths remain. Successful communities are those where care and concern flow freely, and where people extend support for the sake of others. I ask you—right now—to make a gift to Wellspring House for the sake of others. Please be generous, with the confidence that Wellspring House will connect more than 1,500 parents and children in 2016 with HOMES, JOBS, and EDUCATION, so that they may find success.

Thank you!

Bank Gloucester Auction

Wellspring House extends its sincerest thanks to Ken Knowles and BankGloucester for September's auction to benefit Wellspring. "The Mayor's Race", an 8' x 12' mural by Rockport artist, Ken Knowles, now hangs in the main lobby of BankGloucester's 160 Main Street office. A smaller version of the painting was auctioned on September 10th, with proceeds donated to Wellspring House.

Kay's Farewell

Many thanks to Kay O'Rourke for all that she has done for Wellspring House and the people we serve. "Kay has been a true gift to Wellspring, and a friend to all who live, learn and work here" says Board chair, Kim McGovern. Wishing you much happiness as you move onto your next chapter.

Volunteer Spotlight - Debbie Whiting

For ALLI volunteer, Debbie Whiting, math has always come easily.

"There is a lot of beauty to math. It's clean," said Whiting on a recent October morning. Debbie had just finished a lesson in Wellspring's Adult Education Initiative (ALI) program.

Debbie's gift is that she is able to share her knowledge and enthusiasm for math with her students.

"Most people when they come to ALI are petrified of math. The thrill for me is to get people past that stage."

Sometimes, she says, it's one thing that's always stumped them, like fractions or percentages." Lots of people only went so far with math before they ran into a wall."

Debbie's goal is to chip away at the obstacles keeping people from moving beyond that point. Before moving to Rockport, Debbie worked as a teacher's aide for 25 years, during which time she started a math group in the school where she worked. The group allowed students who struggled with math to have a space where they could focus without feeling self-conscious.

When she and her husband, a tutor in Wellspring's English Language Learning program, relocated to the area, she missed teaching. Volunteering with Wellspring's students turned out to be a perfect match.

"It's a great bunch, the staff and Wellspring. You can't find a better organization."

Thank you, Debbie! Wellspring feels the same about our volunteers. If you're interested in volunteering, please contact us at (978) 281-3558.

72 school-aged children who are temporarily housed in the Danvers motel shelter were able to start their school year off right thanks to Morgan Lewis. The law firm spearheaded a campaign to fill 72 individualized backpacks with much needed school supplies. The kids were thrilled. Thanks for your continued generosity, Morgan Lewis!

WELLSPRING EDUCATIONAL RESOURCE CENTER

The Wellspring Educational Resource Center (WERC) works with students who are seeking college, occupational education or new careers leading to living wage jobs. Through a series of reflective exercises focusing on goal development, career exploration and resources, students develop a Pathway for Personal Success and are provided with mentoring services to succeed.

WERC is seeking volunteer mentors to work with students as they progress towards their college and career goals.

If you're interested in being a mentor contact Wellspring's College and Career Placement Coordinator, Patrick Devanney at (978)281-3558 ext. 323. Training and Resources will be provided.

Patrick Devanney, Wellspring's College and Career Placement Counselor advises a student.

HOLIDAY STORE TOY DRIVES

One of Wellspring's most unique homelessness prevention programs is our donor driven Holiday Store. Each December Wellspring opens its doors to hundreds of low income families to "shop" for toys for their children. $2 buys three toys and one book per child. Last year this program served 764 children, ensuring not only that these children would have a happy holiday, but also that their parents would not be forced to get behind on bills in order to do so.

The operation of the Holiday Store relies strongly on toy donations. Please consider brightening the holiday season for those in need by heading up a toy drive for Wellspring in your community.

For information contact Wellspring's Development Associate, Mary Zivkovic at mzivkovic@wellspringhouse.org or call 978.281.3558, ext 301.

Gloucester Fire Department will be running their third annual boot drive at local supermarkets to benefit Wellspring's Holiday Store. Pictured with Chief Eric Smith (L) and Firefighter Dean DeCoste (R) are Wellspring's Deputy Director Kara Murphy and Hospitality Manager Mary Hardwick .

Windover employees volunteer at last year's Holiday Store. If you're interested in helping out as a personal shopper or organizing a toy drive, contact us at mzivkovic@wellspringhouse.org
